C. E. Celebrate 31st Anniversary

The Christian Endeavor Societies throughout the world celebrated their 31st anniversary last Sunday. The Society was organized in the old Williston Church, Maine, by Francis Clark. The movement spread through all protestant denominations until the Society now has 11,000 chapters with over 4,000,000 members. The local society of the Congregational church celebrated the event after the manner of a birthday party. At 6:30 p. m. the members and the invited guests sat down to a table in shape of the emblem of the society. Here they held their regular devotional meeting and at the close a short social meeting. Fruit salad, cake, wafers and chocolate were served. The table was prettily decorated with smilax and violets and the room was festooned overhead with the colors of the society, purple and gold.

Place cards cut from golden pasteboard in the shape of the C. E. Monogram were tied by a purple ribbon to each of the 45 participants. The napkins also bore the monogram in gold. On the table was a large birthday cake surrounded by 31 candles. The cake was cut by Mrs. Cozzens, the County President. Words of greeting from former members, Miss Dolly Blenkinsop, Miss Myrtle Hayns, Miss Vera Cochran and Judge Zion, were read. Mr. Cozzens and Mr. George Campbell, County Superintendent of Evangelistic Work, both gave toasts. A number of former members, Dr. Ernest Abbott of San Jose, the Rev. Earl Wakeman pastor of the Woodside Congregational church at Palo Alto, Miss Ruth Wakeman and Mr. and Mrs. Easton Carter of Palo Alto were guests of the occasion.

At 7:30 o'clock the party adjourned to the auditorium which was prettily decorated with flowers and smilax. Mr. Cozzens made the principal address on the subject "endeavor efficiency." A new song "Good, Better, Best," written by Amos R. Wells, an international officer, especially for the occasion was sung. Greetings from different officers of the world movement were read. A beautiful electric sign of the C. E. emblem was displayed.

An important feature was the installation of new officers and chairmen of committees, who were as follows: President, Marion Duncan; Vice-President, Carl Scholz; Secretary, Mamie Coupland; Treasurer, Lloyd Gardner; Chairman Prayer Meeting Committee, Roy Archibald; Chairman Lookout Committee, Alice Duncan; Missionary Committee, Fred Boreman; Leaders of Social Committee, Winnie Fablinger and Roy Archibald; Chairman Music Committee and Pianist, Ada Collins. The Flower Committee is appointed monthly by the President.

Entered the Ministry

John F. Kellogg, a former Campbell boy whose father was pastor of the Methodist church, has taken up the work of the ministry and has been appointed pastor of the Methodist church at Pleasant Grove, Sacramento District. The California Christian Advocate says: "He enters upon his newly chosen life-work with that enthusiasm and devotion which gives assurance of success."

Pundita Circle.

The Pundita Circle met at the home of Mrs. Savage on February 6th with a large attendance. Instead of the usual program Miss Severance of San Jose gave a very instructive talk on Civic Government. Delicious refreshments were then served and a social time enjoyed.

Mrs. Bird and Mrs. McCoy of San Francisco are visiting at the Hagerman home on the Santa Clara-Los Gatos road.

Mr. Newton Finley has been seriously ill the past week with pneumonia. He is somewhat improved today, we are glad to report.

Mr. W. Gratton of Bloomfield, Colorado, has come here to reside with his grandfather A. G. Williams, and has entered the Campbell High School.

John Gordon has purchased a lot on North Second street adjoining the one where Mr. Holmes is building. Mr. Gordon will build within the next year.

The new postoffice is rapidly nearing completion and will be ready for the inspector on February 13th. After approval by the government Mrs. Waite will immediately take possession.

Mr. J. D. Irwin who has been in poor health and gradually failing for the last six months or more, lies in a very low condition. He is semi-conscious, takes no food and seems to suffer but very little.

J. Springer came down Wednesday evening from Fort Baker and will remain for two weeks at his new home on the Santa Clara-Los Gatos road. In a few weeks he will return with his family and make a permanent residence here.

Mr. A. W. Adams has a touch of the Campbell improvement spirit and has been making extensive improvements to his home on Dillon avenue, among other things a sleeping porch on the back and a sun porch on the front of the house.

Mrs. A. B. Chamberlin received word this week of the death of her stepfather J. L. Chapman in Oregon. Mr. Chapman was 88 years of age and was one of the first men to reach California at the time of the gold rush here in the early days.

Mrs. C. Hanger gave a party and banquet to her class of boys "The Cheerful Wigglers" in the Sunday School room of the M. E. church Wednesday afternoon. A fine time was had by the youngsters, and they declare their teacher to be the "best ever."

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Robson this week moved to their new home on the Los Gatos road, which has been in process of construction for several months past. They now have a modern home in a splendid location. The house has five rooms down stairs and three up stairs.

The Ladies Aid Society of the M. E. church held their regular monthly social Thursday afternoon at the beautiful home of Mrs. Geo. Page. A large number of the lady members were present and after the usual order of business they enjoyed a program of songs and readings. Delicious refreshments were served by Mrs. Page.

Keep Moving

Some time ago S. G. Robson sold his house on First street to Mrs. Hill and Miss Marshman. The house is now being remodeled for their use. The house they are now occupying will be taken by R. Allison, and Ellis Preston will move into the Campbell house where Mr. Allison is now living. Mr. Preston sold his garage at Los Gatos some time ago.

WARM REBUKE FOR SARCASM

Western Senator Who Made Many Enemies Was Given Good Advice by a Friend.

For many years there served in the United States senate, from the west, a man of brilliant mind and fine qualities, but who was forever estranging many with whom he desired to be friendly by reason of his incurably sarcastic manner both of speech and action.

Once an intimate friend wrote the senator urging the appointment of another friend to a minor position in the government. The senator returned a most sarcastic reply, declining to recommend the appointment. It is said that he never forgot the merited rebuke he received from the friend who had suggested the appointment.

"My Dear Senator: I think it would be well for you to reserve your sarcasm for the rapidly increasing number of your enemies, instead of offering it to the decreasing number of your friends, of whom I am one."

French Family Courtesy.

The reason that the French people enjoy the well earned reputation of being the politest people in the world is because "la politesse," or good breeding, is an accomplishment they always acquire at home and in childhood. A Frenchman, his wife, and a couple of children will observe all the most exquisite social amenities in the privacy of their own home, and the faimly life presents all the social advantages they require. A French boy of even the humblest parentage does not wait to go out in the world to learn how to offer a woman a chair, give an elderly gentleman his arm, invite you to dine, or discover the topics of conversation that engage your interest. He has lived from his babyhood in an atmosphere of family deference and cheerfully unselfish consideration, and he is charmingly polite by precept and example wherever he may find himself.

Fishing at Biarritz.

In the neighborhood of Biarritz in southwestern France an original method of taking fish from the sea has been invented by the inhabitants along shore. Two poles forty or fifty feet tall and placed eight or nine yards apart are erected on the beach.

By means of pulleys a continuous line running over the tops of the poles and attached also to the top of another pole placed 500 yards out in the sea can be alternately drawn either shoreward or seaward.

Short lines with hooks and bait hang from the main line, and when they are loaded with fish the fisherman, sitting by his little cabin on shore, draws in his "take," rebaits his hooks and by pulling in the opposite direction replaces the row of baited lines in the sea. This apparatus is called a "va et vient" or "go and come."—Youth's Companion.

Digestive Properties of Eggs.

The latest news of how eggs go in the stomach is: Two freshest soft boils, one and three-quarters hours; two raws, two and one-quarter hours; hard boils, three hours; omelette, three hours. The figures speak for themselves, but do not tell the whole truth, for it looks as if soft boils are more easily digested than raws, whereas, raws are so bland and gentle as not to excite the flow of the gastric juices—not a single squirm of the stomach.—New York Press.

Number "30" Under Ban.

A curious reminiscence of the treason of Judas survives in Belgium. Among the fisher folk of Blankenberghe and other ports the number 30 is banned. When bringing down the price of their wares in order to tempt purchasers, they always pass from 31 sous to 29 sous, and in the same way they refuse to give 30 sous for any purchase, preferring to pay an extra sou, if they cannot succeed in abating the price asked.

What You Make It.

Life in itself is neither good nor evil; it is the scene of good or evil, as you make it; and if you have lived a long day, you have seen all. One day is equal and like all other days; there is no other light, no other night. This very sun, this moon, these very stars, this very order and revolution of things, are all the same your ancestors enjoyed, and that shall also entertain your posterity.—Montaigne: Essays.

Olive Oil for Leather.

Leather furniture, especially when placed near the register, is liable to dry and crack. An excellent method of keeping it from looking old and showing cracks is to go over the leather with a soft rag dipped in olive oil and then going over the whole surface again with a dry rag. It is not necessary to go over the leather more than once in three or four months, just enough to keep it soft.

Woman and the Farm.

In defining woman's relation to the life of the farm, one needs but little reflection to become aware of the all-pervading quality of that relationship. Just as the monarch of France, when asked to define the state, exclaimed, "The state; I am the state." So might the farmer's wife, when questioned as to the life of the farm, respond, "I am the life of the farm."

MANY USES FOR COMMON SALT

Indispensable Household Mineral Has Medicinal as Well as Culinary Value.

Salt on the fingers when cleaning fowls, meat or fish will prevent slipping.

Thrown on a coal fire when broiling steak it will prevent blazing from the dripping fat.

Salt as a gargle will cure soreness of the throat.

Salt in water is the best thing to clean willow ware and matting.

Salt and vinegar will remove stains from discolored teacups.

Salt and soda are excellent for bee stings and spider bites.

Thrown on soot which has fallen on the carpet salt will prevent stain.

Salt put on ink when freshly spilled on a carpet will help in removing the spot.

Salt in whitewash makes it stick.

Salt thrown on a coal fire which is low will revive it.

Used in sweeping carpets it keeps out moths.

Never salt meat that is to be grilled, as it hardens the fibers of the meat and tends to extract the juices. Salt on the table platter just before sending to the table. No meat should be salted uncooked, but after the surface has been seared and the meat partly cooked.

CARING FOR THE KITCHEN

Should Be Kept Scrupulously Clean and Furnished With That End in View.

No part of our home is more important than the kitchen, whether we occupy it ourselves or relegate it to a maid. It does not do to imagine when furnishing that "any old thing" is good enough for kitchen use. Faded oilcloth and soiled rag carpets should not be seen in a part of the house that from the hygienic point of view should be all freshness and brightness. Our kitchens should be kept scrupulously clean, and they must be furnished with this end in view.

No unnecessary articles should be there to get in the way of the occupants. The walls should be painted or, if there is paper, it should be light and easily washed, and the floor ought to be covered with light inlaid linoleum. Inlaid floor covering costs in the beginning more, but it is the only satisfactory wear, and it has been found that light colors are really more economical than dark. A bright table cover and a basket chair are details of kitchen furnishing that will be much appreciated by the occupants.

Stuffed Dates.

Stuffed dates with whipped cream: Remove seeds from choice dates; fill with English walnuts and press into original shape; stew in a little hot water, adding sugar and lemon juice at the last; whip a cup of double cream and a cup of milk with whip churn; remove the froth, drain and serve with the dates around it.

Dates stuffed with walnuts: Select large dates, remove the seed by cutting one side only and fill with chopped nuts prepared with a little powdered sugar and lemon juice to form a paste. Press the dates together and dust with powdered sugar.

Stewed Cucumbers.

Cut the cucumbers fully half an inch thick right through; put them in a saucepan, just covering them with hot water, and let them boil slowly for a quarter of an hour or until tender, but not long enough to break them; then drain them. You want now a pint of good cream with a teaspoon of butter in a saucepan, and when it is warm drop in the cucumbers; season with a little salt and white pepper; cook five minutes, shaking the saucepan all the time, and serve hot. It is just as delicate as asparagus and a very nice dish, indeed.

Whipped Cream Fudge.

Four cups granulated sugar, 1 pint milk, ½ teaspoon of cream of tartar. Place in pan and boil to a very hard ball or dry snap when tested in water. In the meantime have the whites of 2 fresh eggs beaten real stiff. Now when your syrup is cooked have some one pour it on in a fine stream over the eggs and beat continually until all is mixed through, then add ¼ ounce of vanilla flavor and ½ cup of walnuts. Pour out on wax paper and let set for a few hours.

Cabbage Pudding.

Chop fine a small white cabbage and put enough into a large, deep baking pan to fill it up when the cabbage is done. Put it into a pint of salted, boiling water and boil until tender. Drain thoroughly in a colander. Into two parts of the cabbage put two-thirds of a cup of butter, with salt and pepper to suit the taste; a pint of cream, four eggs beaten separately, and a pinch of cayenne pepper. Put the mixture in a pan and bake for half an hour.

Orange Ice.

Four cups water, two cups sugar, two cups orange juice, one-quarter cup lemon juice, grated rind two oranges; make a syrup by boiling sugar and water 20 minutes; add grated rind; cool; add fruit juice; strain and freeze, using three measures ice to one of salt.

END OF MANCHU RULE IN CHINA

ENTRANCE TO THE CHINESE ROYAL PALACE

© BY UNDERWOOD & UNDERWOOD, N.Y.

HAD any European in or out of China said six months ago that the whole fabric of Manchu rule in China could or would be overturned in little more than a fortnight he would have been pronounced mad. Yet that is what has happened.

We must go back to the year 1901, in which what may be called the first of the reform edicts was issued by the late emperor and empres dowager when in retirement at Sianfu, after their flight from Pekin in 1900, the "Boxer year." By this edict they created a new board called the cheng wu ch'u or bureau for government affairs. The board was ordered to memorialize the throne in regard to what should and what should not be done to modernize the government of the country. Between 1901 and 1906 a great many edicts were issued in response to the memorials of the cheng wu ch'u, some of them dealing with political and others with educational and legal matters. They were mostly paper reforms—"yu ming wu shih," as the Chinese say, or "all talk and no substance" as we express it.

At the head of the progressive party in Pekin at this time was Yuan Shih-kai, who in addition to being viecroy of Chihli province was consulting minister to the board of state affairs, director-general of the imperial railways of north China and of other lines, minister in charge of the Manchu garrison at Pekin and commander in chief of the 1st, 2d, 3d, 5th and 6th divisions of the imperial army. As a result of his influence, the throne on Nov. 6, 1906, issued an edict inaugurating important administrative reforms, and promising that in future no distinction should be made between Manchus and Chinese. Almost immediately afterward palace intrigues resulted in Yuan being compelled to resign all his posts save that of viceroy, and for several months Pekin politics were guided by the reactionaries. But in July, 1907, a famine in the Yangtse valley started revolutionary unrest, which culminated in the assassination of Gen. Min, the Manchu governor of Anhui province. The throne took flight, and Yuan was recalled to the capital.

During the first six months of 1908 little was done. There was a pause in the constitutional movement due to a recrudescence of party strife. But on July 22 the provisional assemblies, already foreshadowed, were formally constituted, while on Aug. 27, a decree was issued definitely promising a constitution at the end of nine years and assigning a definite preparatory program to each year.

Young China.

In accordance with the program the provincial assemblies met on Oct. 14 1909. They continued in session till Nov. 23, and astonished every one by their orderly behavior and by the quiet tone of their debates. Momentous debates these, for in them "young China" first realized its strength. It was not long before that strength was shown. In January, 1910, the assemblies sent delegates to Pekin to petition for an earlier opening of parliament than that promised by the nine year program, which had fixed 1917 as the date. The government of the country was now, it must be remembered, in the hands of the present prince regent, for in November, 1909, both the emperor, Kwang Hsu, and the empress dowager, Tze Hsi, died. One of the first acts of the regent had been to dismiss Yuan Shih-kai from office, and to banish him to Honan, so that the petition of the delegates fell on very deaf ears.

Speculation was rife in Pekin as to the effects of this answer on the country at large, for in every part of the empire, more particularly in the Yangtse valley, there was a strong undercurrent of unrest. At Changsha there had been an actual outbreak, while the foreign legations had received anonymous letters warning them of approaching revolution. The delegates held a meeting and decided that fifteen of their number should remain in Pekin. The remainder, about a hundred, returned to their homes.

In the meantime steps had been taken to call an assembly destined to succeed where the delegates had failed. The nine year program provided for the inauguration during the third year of a national assembly to meet at Pekin and to serve as a training ground for the future parliament. Accordingly, on March 11, 1910, the election of members began, and on May 5, 1910, an edict was issued giving a list of those nominated by the throne.

Further, the assembly was brought together as an advisory body pure and simple. This was clearly laid down in its regulations and was emphasized by the prince regent when he opened the assembly Oct. 3, the underlying theory of his speech being that whatever measure of popular government the throne had decided to allow was granted as a gift and not as a right. The entire session, however, was a flat contradiction of this theory. On Oct. 22 the assembly appointed a committe of six to draft a memorial demanding an earlier convocation of parliament.

The confidenec of the assembly knew no bounds, and it proceeded first to impeach the grand councillors, and next to demand the formation of a responsible cabinet. The impeachment failed, but the demand for a cabinet succeeded. On Dec. 25, a few days before the assembly was dissolved, an edict ordered a cabinet to be formed. In May, 1911, the cabinet came into existence and article 11 of its constitution stated that "laws, imperial rescripts, and imperial edicts having reference to state affairs shall be countersigned by all the ministers of state."

The Revolution.

The meeting of the national assembly this year has coincided so aptly with the outbreak of revolution that there is good reason for supposing that the two events were planned to take place simultaneously. Be that as it may, the immediate occasion of rebellion was the edict of May 9 last nationalizing all the trunk railways. The railway question had been an acute one ever since June, 1909, when three financial groups, the Deutsch-Asiatische bank, the Hongkong and Shanghai bank and the Banque de l'Indo-Chine, made a preliminary agreement with the late grand councillor, Chang Chih-tung, to lend the Chinese government $27,500,000 to enable it to build a railway from Canton to Hankow and from Hankow to Ichang. Owing to various difficulties the loan hung fire till May last year, when it was finally arranged and signed.

The government appeared to be getting the rebellion in hand, when on Oct. 11 news reached Pekin that Wuchang, which is just opposite Hankow, had been captured by rebels and that the viceroy had fled. On the following day Hanyang was taken, together with the arsenal in Hankow, and it became clear that the long expected anti-Manchu revolution had at last broken out under the military leadership of Brig. Gen. Li Yuan Heng, a native of Hupeh, educated in Tientsin, and the civilian leadership of Huang Tanghauling, president of the Hupeh provincial assembly, and Sunyu, brother of Dr. Sun Yat Sen, the famous Cantonese revolutionary.

With extraordinary rapidity the torch of revolution has been handed from province to province, and now flares from nearly every city of importance. In the midst of these events the national assembly met and, through them, the revolutionaries have been able to snatch every vestige of power from the throne.

KILL THE POULTRY INSECTS

Several Remedies, if Properly Applied, Will Eradicate Mites—Few Effective Formulas.

(By C. M. WELLS.)

Several remedies, if properly applied, will kill the mites. The eggs remain, however, in every part of the house—in the roof, the cracks, the nest boxes and roosting places. So you must paint every part of the house, not forgetting the inside roof, and there are many effective formulas for this. I reproduce some, and which one is the most convenient for you to use accept it:

Take one gallon of coal tar (a by-product from any gas plant), four ounces of carbolic acid or four ounces of creolin and one quart of kerosene. Mix well and apply with a paint brush.

One most easily made and obtained is one gallon of ordinary whitewash made of lime, one-half pound of sulphur and four ounces of either creolin or carbolic acid, to be mixed and applied with paint brush.

Either of these formulas will kill the eggs and you should not have further trouble in six months.

The insects that infest the grass and weeds are troublesome for the fowls. There are ticks and gnats which may cause sores on the head, but an ordinary salve rubbed on the afflicted part will cure it.

The chicken lice remain on the fowls at all times and must be suffocated with dust of some kind or by dipping the fowl in a disinfectant which is not poisonous to the fowl.

Many people dust their fowls monthly with a powder, and the formulas following are probably as good as any:

Of one pound of flowers of sulphur and four ounces of coal tar camphor (naphthaline flakes) use four pounds of very fine plaster of paris. Mix thoroughly and keep dry in a closed vessel. Use by dusting among the feathers.

Another mixture is made of one pound of air slacked lime, one pound of snuff and five pounds of road dust. Mix thoroughly and use as above directed.

One of the most effective ways of giving the fowls comfort is keeping a dust bath box about four feet square and six inches deep filled to within two inches of the top with wood ashes (to which is sometimes added a pound of sulphur). The fowls will dust themselves and practically rid themselves of lice. The old methods are sometimes entirely effective, and they are certainly simple. The fowls enjoy them, and you are saved much extra work.

METHOD OF RAISING SHEEP

Economical and Profitable Manner Is Described That Seems About as Practical as Any Other.

A neighbor of mine has a way of handling sheep which seems to me to be about as inexpensive and as profitable as any, though some of your sheep experts may criticise it, says a writer in the National Stockman. Each year he breeds 50 good fleeced Merino ewes to a Southdown ram. He saves a bluegrass pasture all fall for these ewes and they run in it all winter, with hay either in rack or stack for them to run to at will. He feeds a little grain in the latter part of the winter, corn and oats mixed, and he estimates the quantity at about a half bushel of the mixture for each ewe. The ewes lamb with early grass and the lambs are sold in July without any feed. He averages one lamb per ewe and, of course, the price depends on the market. The ewes have been shearing about $2 worth of wool in recent years and the lambs selling for $3 to $4 apiece. These figures he regards as satisfactory considering the small amount of labor and grain involved. I have thought that his lambs might be made to bring more money with some feeding, but he says it would require more time and attention during the busy part of the year and he prefers his present plan. It would not work well everywhere, but it is all right where the winters are not too severe and good bluegrass pastures can be had. The fine-wool ewe is an excellent mother for one lamb, and the Southdown Merino ewe is easy to keep, hardy and produces a good fleece, but sometimes it is hard to buy the right kind for this work.

Food for Laying Hens.

With the morning mash we feed boiled potatoes. All of our little potatoes that are not fed to the hogs are used in this way. We use no condition powder, only meat meal, says a writer in an exchange. For green foods we feed clover hay, ensilage and the little potatoes. Our hens lay more during December, January, February and March, the months when the eggs are high. We sell eggs and fowls at fancy prices; others to market. Our neighbors sometimes come for roosters in the spring, but go away disappointed, as our roosters are all killed in the fall. We tell them that if they want something to keep for nothing they must get them in the fall and not expect some one else to keep them all winter.

Dead Branches.

All dead branches should be immediately cut from a tree as to permit them to remain endangers the life of the tree.

Usefulness of Mule.

A mule's day of usefulness can be generally measured by his ability to thoroughly masticate his food

"Well—er—the day hasn't been settled yet."

"Oh, I see; the lucky man has just proposed, and—"

"No, he hasn't proposed yet, but—"

"Ah, he is going to propose. How long has he been calling?"

"Well, he hasn't started calling yet, but—"

"What is the young man's name?"

"Really, I don't know at present, but mamma says she thinks some nice young man will start calling soon, so I wanted to be in time."

"Manna."

In describing the daily life of a certain distinguished citizen of the republic a writer gives, by way of contrast, the story that follows:

This calls to mind the English humorous writer who sketched out his daily program as follows: Rise at noon; breakfast at one; a stroll to the club; attention to mail; some afternoon calls; a ride in the park; dinner; a round of evening parties, and then to bed."

"But when do you do your literary work?" he was asked.

"Why, the next day of course," was the reply.—Review of Reviews.

Man of Brains.

HONORED BY THE BEDOUINS

Solemn Ceremony by Which Homer Davenport Became Brother of Prince Akmet Haffez.

Homer Davenport went into the Syrian desert to buy Arabian horses, and there he met Akmet Haffez, prince of the Bedouins. In the Bohemian Mr. Davenport describes the high honor conferred on him by the prince:

And at last, as though he were yet afraid that he had not shown enough friendship to his American friend, this big-hearted chief conferred on Mr. Davenport the highest honor within a Bedouin's power. Mr. Davenport gives the following vivid description of the queer ceremony:

"I hope to succeed in impressing the reader with the very fine nobility of character of Akmet Haffez. My friendship with him and my admiration for him began at our first meeting in Aleppo, and each day made both stronger. And now I was to come into close relations with him. The morning after the mare became mine we were to start on a visit to Sheikh Ali, and just before we mounted I went through the ceremony which made me his brother.

"Neither of us had brothers, and so we agreed to follow out the old customs of the Bedouins and take the fraternal pledge. I first treated the matter a little too frivolously, but the Bedouins were very solemn.

"Standing at one side of the tent, in the presence of many witnesses, we held up our right hands and with our left clasped together repeated the pledge. Akmet Haffez began with the words: 'Wallah! Wallah!' ('O God! My God!') which I repeated after him. 'Wallah Wallah!' and then together we said them over and over again.

"'Billah! Billah! Tillah! Tillah!' chanted the old Bedouin. 'Akhwan, akhwan, el yom wa bookra wo l'al abad, akwan.' ('By God and through God, brothers, today and tomorrow and forever, brothers!')

"I felt nothing of frivolity now, and as I grasped his hand and took the oath, my eyes were moist. After it was over, he asked how I felt now that I was the brother of an old man who ate with his hands. I replied that I felt no change; that we had apparently been brothers, whereupon he began to cry.

"Who knew, he asked, but that we had been through a similar ceremony that God himself had performed centuries ago on some other planet?"

By this plan the student actually learns to do things as they are done in the business office.

REBELS' TRIAL IN PARIS

Working of a Conspirators' Institute Is Laid Bare in the French Capital.

Extraordinary things are coming out at the trial in Paris of seven revolutionists on the charge of having threatened and sequestrated three of their comrades whom they suspected of betraying them, the one for the space of 52 hours, another for 48 hours, and the third for 12, with the result that their captives signed confessions. The story of two of these affairs having been related in some of the newspapers, the judicial authorities instituted an inquiry, with the result that warrants were issued for the arrest of nine men. Three only could be captured, as the rest had fled, but four of the latter surrendered.

Meanwhile, it had been ascertained that a third revolutionist had been drawn into a trap and also sequestrated, his papers being even seized at his dwelling. When questioned he and his fellow-prisoners assumed full responsibility for what they had done, and soon the presiding judge remarked:

"You have, like us, a detective department, thanks to which you have been able to intercept correspondence, to shadow people, and to lay traps for them. You have employed the classic methods of the police, and you have also gendarmes, the jeunes-gardes revolutionnaires. You have, too, your magistrates, but there is this difference, that the accused are not assisted by counsel."

The person to whom this was addressed coolly replied that they left brutal methods to the regular police.

Did the man who had undergone the longest sequestration complain? "No, poor fellow; he was only too glad to get off so cheaply. It might perhaps hove been different with the republicans of former days, who did not hesitate to use daggers and revolvers when they got rid of spies."—Paris Correspondence London Telegraph.

Hanged in Yellow Ruff.

An instance of a fashion being extinguished by exhibiting it on a criminal was seen in the execution of Mrs. Turner, who was hanged at Tyburn November 15, 1615, for being concerned in the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury. She was the inventress of yellow starch, and Lord Chief Justice Coke, in pronouncing sentence, told her she had been guilty of the seven deadly sins, and as she was the originator of yellow starched ruffs and cuffs, so he hoped she would be the last to wear them. He gave orders that she should be hanged in the garb she had made so fashionable, and she was the last to wear it.

"Dark Stars."

Scattered through space are innumerable stars that give forth very little light or heat. Either they were never, at any period of their history, bright and glowing like the myriad stars that make the midnight sky so beautiful, or in the course of countless ages the heat they once possessed has radiated away from them into the depth of space, and now they are, as their name describes them, "dark stars."

Quakers Against Military Service.

Australian Quakers are up in arms, to put it paradoxically, against the new commonwealth compulsory military service act. They have just held a convention in Sydney and decided that, while as citizens they were prepared to render any duties that the state rightly demanded by the civil authority, they could take no part under military direction in the universal training required by the defense act. Believing that Christianity and the practice of war were opposed, they regarded compulsory military service as contrary to the fundamental tenets of their religion.

Ingenious Little Invention.

TAXES 1911

OFFICE OF THE TAX COLLECTOR
COUNTY OF SANTA CLARA, CALIFORNIA

San Jose, California, October 5, 1911.

Notice is hereby given that the taxes for the year 1911 will become due and payable October 9th:

First installment. Taxes on all personal property, a lien on or secured by land, all special taxes, and one-half of the taxes on all real property are delinquent on November 27, 1911, at 6 o'clock P. M., when 15 per cent. will be added to all of said first installment remaining unpaid.

Second installment. The remaining one-half of taxes on all real property will be due and payable January 2, 1912, and delinquent April 22, 1912, when 5 per cent. will be added to all taxes remaining unpaid.

Taxpayers may, if they desire to do so, pay the whole tax at one payment.

For the purpose of receiving taxes I will be in the several townships of the county as follows:

At the Bank of Campbell, in the town of Campbell, on Wednesday, October 18, 1911.

And at my office in the Hall of Justice Building, cor. St. James and Market streets, San Jose, Cal., daily, Sundays and Legal Holidays excepted, from 9 A. M. to 5 P. M., to and including, Monday, November 27, 1911, and Monday, April 23, 1912 at 6 o'clock P. M.

The second installment of taxes is payable at my office in the Hall of Justice Building, San Jose.

WM. A. JANUARY,
Tax Collector of Santa Clara County.

Improvements Planned By Improvement Club

The Campbell Improvement Club met in regular session on February 2 with Vice President Waite in the chair.

S. G. Rodeck of the Street Numbering Committee, reported that he had canvassed the town finding that some 475 numbers would be needed and that they would be furnished to all persons applying for them at the rate of 10 cents for one number, 15 cents for two numbers and 20 cents for three numbers. He found that the style of number they wished to use could not be procured on this Coast to cover all needs and he had ordered some to fill out from New York. The committee was ordered by the Club to put up only such numbers as were wanted and paid for.

M. Waite from the committee on Order of Business by order of the Club was granted further time.

The Committee on Roads suggested that the Improvement Club should exert what influence they may in favor of sidewalks and curbs built of cement like those now being put down on the north side of Campbell avenue from First to Second streets.

Joseph Bohnett from the High School Board of Trustees reported that he had just finished planting Fourth Street on the east border of the school grounds with ornamental trees, black walnut and pepper alternating.

On motion the Club heartily endorsed the plan to beautify the streets in Campbell and adjacent to it by planting flowers on either side thereof.

M. Waite was appointed a committee to confer with the Country Woman's Club with the view to receiving their cooperation in this plan and to ask them to particularly look after the work outside of the town.

At the suggestion of Joseph Bohnett the Club passed a resolution endorsing the planting of the schoolgrounds with flowers and requesting Mr. Lanz to interview the Trustees in favor of the same.

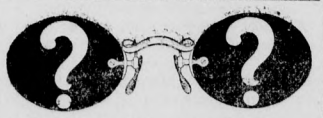
H. G. Keesling repeated his offer to furnish plants for planting the schoolgrounds and made a further offer of such plants as may be needed for Campbell avenue.

Warren Shelly very clearly outlined the great need in this valley of a permanent system of irrigation. He suggested the feasibility of small impounding reservoirs in adjacent hills which should be fed by diverting the winter waste water from the streams by ditches to these different reservoirs so that when most needed early in the season and after the fruit was harvested a permanent supply of water would be on hand.

H. G. Keesling warmly endorsed this idea and cited an illustration of its usefulness of what had been done along the same line in Monterey County. Before the completion of this process land in that section went begging at $60 an acre and now is sold at $300 an acre.

Invitation Day

February 23rd has been decided upon as California "Invitation Day." A vast number of attractive double return post cards are being prepared by the Southern Pacific Railway Company, containing scenes of leading agricultural industries of each county. These cards will be supplied for free distribution.



The Question of Glasses

Are they needed or not?

The question is easily answered by those who can't see well without them, but for a great many who see well and still suffer from the effect of eye-strain it can only be decided after a careful examination. Such an examination I am prepared to give you, and an honest opinion as to what is needed. No operation. No drugs. No glasses unless necessary.

New Registration Laws

Judge Farley Now Registering Voters From Union and Vineland Precincts.

Justice Farley has just received blanks from the County Clerk's office and is authorized to register the voters of Vineland and Union Precincts who get their mail through the Campbell postoffice, They can also register at the County Clerk's office in San Jose.

There are a few points it would be well for those desiring registration to know about. They are here given for their benefit:

1st. Any woman, no matter where she was born, who is married to a naturalized citizen cannot be registered unless she bring the certificate of naturalization of her husband with her to the deputy's office.

2d. A woman born in a foreign country who marries a native born citizen must make affidavit to the date and town of her marriage and give the name of her husband.

3d. A man who has lost his naturalization papers cannot be registered at this office, and both himself and wife must go to the County Clerk's office for registration.

4th. No man can be registered because he was 60 years old in 1894 unless he is an illiterate. He must be unable to read and be only able to mark his ballot, which makes that provision apply to him.

5th. People coming here to register from outside precincts should be careful to know these three items: The number of their rural route, the number of their box, and particularly the number of the precinct if there is more than one in the district.

Attend the Sunday School

Is it true that so many people are missing these fine Sunday School services at the M. E. Church. We speak now to those who do not practice going to Sunday School. If anyone enjoys life and knows what life is for it is he who studies Jesus Christ and teaches Him to the children. The desire of the officers and teachers of this school is to make better the life of every boy or girl coming into its rooms. We have been having fine music by an orchestra and choir which has the sympathy of every listener. Look out for something good every Sunday from now on.

On Sunday, February 11, we will celebrate "Lincoln Day." The Sunday School is preparing something good for all who come and those who are there at 9:45 a. m. will hear all of the program. Special music and recitations have been planned for.

Come and help us build up the Sunday School. We will soon have 150 members on the roll.

J. C. GORDON, Supt.

Congregational Church

Next Sunday, being Lincoln Sunday, will be observed in both the Sunday School, with some special talks and responsive services, and in the morning service. In the morning the Pastor will speak on "Lincoln's Leadership," as descriptive of the leadership needed today. All G. A. R. comrades and their wives are especially invited. Special music by the men. Solo and quartet. Five minute talk to the boys and girls "Lincoln Stories." All are most cordially invited.

No service in our church at night. See notice elsewhere of the Union Service at the M. E. Church, Rev. J. F. Wilson has charge.

GEO. E. ATKINSON, Pastor.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price 75c per bottle.

ORDER TO SHOW CAUSE

IN THE SUPERIOR COURT OF THE COUNTY of Santa Clara, State of California.

In the Matter of the Estate and Guardianship of William Lloyd Gardner, Dorette E. M. Gardner and Roy R. Gardner, Minors.

Order to Show Cause why Order of Sale of Real Estate Should Not Be Made.

It appearing to the said Court, by the verified petition this day presented and filed by George W. Gardner, the guardian of the persons and estates of William Lloyd Gardner, Dorette E. M. Gardner and Roy R. Gardner, minors, praying for an order of sale of real estate, that it is necessary to sell the whole of the real estate to pay the debts of said minors and the expenses of administration of said estates.

It is therefore ordered by the said Court, that the next of kin of said minors, and all persons interested in the estates of said minors, appear before the said Superior Court on Friday, the 8th day of March, A. D., 1912, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of said day, at the Court room of said Superior Court, at the Court House, in the City of San Jose, in the County of Santa Clara, to show cause why such an order should not be granted to the said guardian to sell so much of the real estate of the said minors as shall be necessary.

And that a copy of this order be published at least once a week for four successive weeks in the Campbell Interurban Press, a newspaper printed and published in said County.

Dated January 30, 1912. P. F. GOSBEY, Superior Judge.

BUG-GO

Will Clean Your Trees

Makes Bigger Crops and Better Fruit

Bean's Bug-go is a 60 per cent distillate oil emulsion, so perfectly emulsified that it will stand indefinitely, and dilutes readily with cold water. Oil emulsion is the best remedy for brown apricot scale, black scale, greedy scale, and Italian pear scales. It also cleans the trees of moss and lichens, and leaves the bark soft and brown.

You can't make an oil emulsion that will mix so readily as Bean's Bug-go. Home-made emulsion does not remain emulsified and it collects in large drops, without spreading.

For best results, use with caustic soda. A 50-gal bbl. of Bug-go and a 45-lb pail of caustic soda costs but $9.75 f. o. b. San Jose. This will make 625 gallons of spray and will cover from 3 to 4 acres. Discounts—35 cents per bbl. on five to ten bbls; 70 cents per bbl. on ten bbls. or more. Send $1.75 extra for the bbl. It will be refunded when the bbl. is returned in good condition.
